Just a short note to remind you that our WINTER MEETING is set to take place at Itchy's (formerly known as Sandjigger) house this Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p.m. Itchy promises that his newly-finished rumpus room will be worthy of our League function. We shall see.

Rumors abound that Possum actually intends to appear at this function. But before you begin making book on it, recall that he also made plenty of noise of attending the end-of-summer HSL outing, but once again we were left waiting at the altar for him. If Possum stiffes us on Saturday, tentative plans are for a lynch mob to form at Itchy's house and to proceed to House O' Possum for an old-fashioned tar 'n' feather holiday party.

Be sure not to miss this sure-to-be-entertaining program.
