PLAY BALL!

Gentlemen:

Today is the day we thought might never get here this season. A COVID-19 Opening Day on July 23, featuring the Yankees against the Nationals in Washington and the Giants against the Dodgers in L.A. Baseball, sweet baseball. Can I get an amen, brothers?

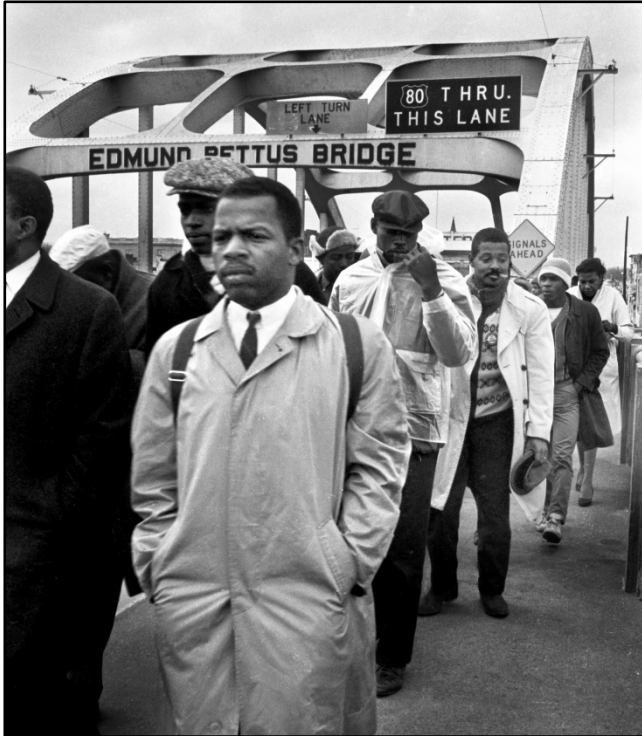

In preparation for this hallowed day, on Monday night just three days ago, thirteen grumpy old white men in their 50s and 60s conquered technological challenges from every direction and successfully completed their first virtual Hot Stove League Draft. While we can all agree that we would rather do this in person, enjoying each other's company around the Board Room, at least we all now have teams to watch for however long this season lasts.
